About

Karen Abraham has been selected as this year's School Librarian of the Year for demonstrating ongoing excellence in school librarianship. Karen has been a leader in the New Hampshire, New England, and national school library community since 2015. She has tirelessly supported NH school librarians while serving on the NHSLMA executive board, the CMTC steering committee, the AASL Event Promotion Committee, and as the Technology Officer of the New England School Library Association. Karen collaborates with the leadership teams of NHLA and NHCUC to strengthen relationships between school, public, and college librarians.
