

Celebrate

Andrea Castaldo

Assistant Principal of the Year

The 30th Annual New Hampshire Excellence in Education Awards recognize New Hampshire schools and individuals who meet high standards of excellence. The criteria used in selecting outstanding individuals to be honored are determined by their sponsoring organizations.

Follow us!
@nh-edies

About

Andrea Castaldo of Kearsarge Regional Middle School is the 2024 recipient of the New Hampshire Association of School Principals Assistant Principal of the Year award, highlighting her exceptional leadership and innovative approach to educational administration. Andrea's hands-on, "boots on the ground" approach resonates deeply with her colleagues. Her collaboration with staff has been pivotal in the successful design and implementation of significant school-wide initiatives. Under her leadership, the introduction of Multi-Tiered Systems of Supports for Behavior (MTSS-B) and competency-based grading have influenced the school's culture, fostering an environment of continuous improvement and student-centered learning. Superintendent Winfried Feneberg shared that, "Andrea's optimism shines through, making her not only a competent administrator, but a highly respected leader in the district. She possesses the ability and capacity to go far in this profession."